Sometimes, and not by choice, we find ourselves isolated and alone. We can always call out to God in those dark hours, and we should. The psalmist cries, “Turn Yourself to me, and have mercy on me, for I am desolate [lit. lonely] and afflicted.” (Psalm 25:16) Also, “Look on my right hand and see, for there is no one who acknowledges me; refuge has failed me; no one cares for my soul.” (Psalm 142:4). The soul of the psalmist’s desperation is painful to read, especially if you are experiencing deep loneliness and isolation for whatever reason. But you do not need to be alone.

Cry out to our God, for He hears you. He is closer than you could ever imagine, but so are your brothers and sisters of faith. It can be hard to be vulnerable with those around us. We live in a “best self” culture, and when we don’t have it all together, we hide and continue our hypocritical facade day by day. Not getting the help or love we need from a tangible community. Just so you know, an online community has some benefits for sure but is not a replacement for a real community. There I said it! It is like putting a fireplace on your TV. You can see and hear it, but you cannot feel its warmth.

My greatest fear in life, as with many, is loneliness. I am reminded that Jesus says, “Come to Me, all you who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take My yoke upon you and learn from Me, for I am gentle and lowly in heart, and you will find rest for your souls. For My yoke is easy, and My burden is light.” (Matthew 11:28-30) As we come to God, we should diligently seek out Christian fellowship and a healthy community where we may cry out to God together. (Acts 2:42-47; Hebrews 10:24-25)

Hey, you and I cannot do the “one another’s” unless we are with one another, and we are to love God and others with zeal, for our God commands it. (Mark 12:30-31; Matthew 22:37-40; John 13:34-35) Since fulfilling the law of Christ is to love one another; let us do so with vigor as we bear one another’s burden as a family. (Galatians 6:2) Loving others and being loved is impossible in a relational vacuum. You are loved. You are family.
