God's Greatest Purpose FOR YOUR LIFE

Pastor Ty Orr

PART TWO: FORMED INTO THE IMAGE OF CHRIST

The Christian life is not primarily a self-improvement project. It is a lifelong work of God's grace that forms His people into the image of Jesus Christ.

Romans 8:29 tells us that believers are "predestined to be conformed to the image of His Son." This is God's defining purpose for every Christian. He is not merely guiding us toward the right job, ministry assignment, or future opportunity. He is shaping our hearts, minds, desires, and actions so that Christ's character becomes increasingly visible in us.

When we look to Jesus, we see the pattern God is forming in His people. Christ was humble without weakness. He was compassionate without compromising truth. He was truthful without harshness. He loved sinners without condoning sin. He remained obedient to the Father even when obedience led Him to suffering and death.

This is the image God is producing in us.

That process is often slower and more difficult than we would prefer. From the beginning of the Christian life, believers experience a real tension: we desire to follow Christ, yet we continue to wrestle with sin. Paul vividly describes this struggle in Romans 7. We know what is right, but our old patterns, fears, selfishness, and weakness still resist the Spirit's work.

Yet our weakness does not cancel God's purpose.

The gospel's promise is not that Christians will become perfect overnight. Rather, it is that God will remain faithful in His transforming work. Paul writes, "He who began a good work in you will carry it on to completion until the day of Christ Jesus" (Philippians 1:6). Likewise, 1 Thessalonians 5:24 assures us, "He who calls you is faithful; he will surely do it."

God's purpose does not depend on your flawless performance. It rests on His faithful grace.

So do not measure spiritual growth only by whether life feels easy or whether every struggle disappears. Look instead for the evidence of Christ being formed in you: growing humility, deeper trust, greater love, clearer obedience, quicker repentance, and a stronger desire to please the Lord.

God's greatest purpose for your life is not merely to improve your circumstances. It is to make you more like His Son.
